Professor (Dr.) Usha Tandon

Kaleidoscope 2015-16 showcasing various co-curricular and extra-curricular activities of Campus Law Centre, in the preceding year, is before the venerated readers. This publication is a proof to the fact that, despite its constraints and limitations, CLC has been marching along with the competitive time to provide world class quality legal education to its students in the holistic sense of the term. The teachers taking full teaching load-Professors- 8 classes, Associate Professors - 12 classes and Assistant Professors-16 classes per week, are not weary to get involved enthusiastically in various co-curricular activities of this law school. I take pride in writing that my colleagues are not only creating wonders in the class rooms and Seminar Hall but are also seriously engaged in the research work. Four of my young colleagues have recently earned their Ph.D. Degrees; two have submitted their doctoral thesis and two others are ready to submit their thesis in a month's time. Some others have written/ edited books too.

The academic vibrations are everywhere in CLC's atmosphere. All subjects approved by the Bar Council of India have been offered to the students. While many new subjects as Media Law, Gender Justice are becoming very popular among students, the revived old subjects such as Military Law, Legislative Drafting are also been heavily opted. Students are seriously attending their classes- be it at 8.30 a.m. or 1.30 p.m. or 4.30 p.m. The CLC students are gaining lucrative placements; participating in international Moot Courts abroad; are being admitted to prestigious law schools abroad for their Masters and are begging Para Legal Volunteer Award and Gold Medals in sports.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Approaching very near to celebrate its centenary, CLC has a glorious past of 92 years and a bright future ahead, though presently, it is struggling for more space and better facilities. The crowning glory of CLC is its celebrated alumni who have/had been serving the Nation as Union Cabinet Ministers, Judges of the Supreme Court of India, Judges of various High Courts, top law officers, top bureaucrats and great Jurists both inside and outside India. Some of the precious jewels and gems of this magnificent Crown include:- Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ranjan Gogoi, Hon'ble Mr. Justice Madan B. Lokur, Hon'ble Mr. Justice A.K. Sikri, Hon'ble Mr. Justice Rohinton, F Nariman-Judges Supreme Court of India, Mr. Mohan Parasaran, Senior Advocate, formerly Solicitor General of India, Mr. Jagdev, formerly Member, Bar Council of India, Mr. Sidharth Luthra, Senior Advocate, formerly Addl. Solicitor General of India, Ms Pinky Anand, Addl. Solicitor General of India.

The last Academic Session started with Orientation Programme in July, 2015 , wherein Hon'ble Mr. Justice Madan B. Lokur, Judge, Supreme Court of India motivated the newly admitted students to get involved themselves, along with class room teaching, in various activities offered by law school such as legal aid programmes, academic discussions and research. The budding lawyers were then addressed by Hon'ble Ms Justice Hima Kohli, Judge, High Court of Delhi, and Prof (Dr.) M.P. Singh, Chancellor, Central University, Haryana. The major events of the last year included the celebration of the Foundation Day of Legal Services Clinic in October, 2015, wherein Hon'ble Mr. Justice NajmiWaziri, Judge, High Court of Delhi and Hon'ble Mr. Justice Kameswar Rao, Judge, High Court of Delhi, commended the role of Para Legal Volunteers, as a noble service to the society and encouraged them to make citizens aware of their equal rights. The prestigious 12th K.K. Luthra Moot Court Competition was held in January, 2016 attracting the participation from fifty teams including international teams from the United States, United Kingdoms, Indonesia, Sri Lanka and Pakistan. Hon'ble Mr. Justice Prafulla C. Pant, Judge, Supreme Court of India, inaugurated the competition stressing that, for a law student moot court competition is the most apt way to achieve rich experience in the art of advocacy. The final rounds were judged by the Bench consisting of Hon'ble Mr. Justice S. Ravindra Bhat, Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ashutosh Kumar and Hon'ble Ms. Justice Sangita Dhingra Sehgal, Judges from Delhi High Court. Hon'ble Mr. Justice Jasti Chelameswa emphasizing the need for good young advocates who are well versed in technology along with law delivered the Valedictory Address and distributed the prizes to the winners.

An International Conference on "Conservation of Biodiversity and Sustainable Energy: Law and Practice" was held in February, 2016 witnessing global participation from South Korea, South Africa, U.K., Nigeria, Algeria, Mauritius, Indonesia, Bangladesh and Uganda. The Conference was inaugurated by Mrs. Maneka Sanjay

The event was closed with the Valedictory Address by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ranjan Gogoi, Judge, Supreme Court of India and most distinguished alumnus of CLC emphasizing the need to have a comprehensive legislation on the subject of bio-diversity. Before that Hon'ble Hon'ble Mr. Justice Uday U. Lalit, Judge, Supreme Court of India, dealt with important cases on bio-diversity. Mr. Mohan Parasaran, Senior Advocate, Formerly Solicitor General of India and Mr. Sidharth Luthra Senior Advocate, Formerly Additional Solicitor General of India enlightened the audience on various critical issues of conservation of biodiversity.

The Placement Assistant Committee did a wonderful job in securing campus placements to the registered students. The highest package bagged by our students is - Rs 10 lakhs per annum from Wipro. Three students - Romil Talwar, Sneha Chakravarthy and Rishabh Sharma have been placed with Wipro. Ms Bahuli Sharma has been awarded Rhodes Scholarship of 2016. This publication documents various other achievements of our students in moot court competitions, debates, essay writings, sports etc. I am very glad with the good work done by the Editorial Team. Ms Bhavna Bawa deserves special mention. I personally observed her, quietly taking notes, in various events of CLC for this publication. She did a wonderful job in doing the tedious work of preparing transcript from the audio recording of events.

I will be demitting this administrative position in a month's time after completing the tenure of three years. This is perhaps, my last Address as P.I.C. of this prestigious law school. I am deeply beholden to those considerate CLCns who strengthened me to run the administration of their alma mater smoothly and successfully. I am grateful to all my colleagues and office staff who have worked with me and helped me achieving whatever little I could, as the conscientious Head of CLC, which is my alma mater too. I am grateful to my 2218 children at CLC, who reposed faith in me in accepting the radical changes brought out here, especially, in terms of their time-table and other things.

There was a time when the strength of students at CLC was much less. We used to have three or four sections per year of LL.B. classes. Now we are having ten to eleven sections per class. Previously, there used to be three lectures per subject, now we are taking four lectures of one hour per subject. Previously the optional papers were quite few, now, as I said earlier, all optional papers as prescribed by Bar Council of India are taught here. In all this scenario, unfortunately, the number of class rooms did not increase and remained the same compelling us to extend the classes up to 4.30 p.m./5.30 p.m. We do not have proper Moot-Court Room, but lots of moot court activities are a regular feature here; we do not have adequate space for Placement Assistance Cell and three of our students earned a package of Rs Ten lakh per annum; we do not have canteen and our classes are held from 8.30 a.m. to 4.30/5.30 p.m., depending heavily on small cafeteria, so on and so forth. This paradox does not please us. It is an irony that CLC with 2200⁺ students, not having sufficient facilities for its own, is also housing another Law School with 2400⁺ students, which was shifted here from Mandir Marg, putting unbearable pressure on CLC. Recently, I was talking to one of my colleagues who is now occupying the top position in another, small but beautiful, university. I was at pains to listen when he, regrettfully, described Delhi University's law Centres as Academic Slums. The number of students tremendously increased without any infrastructure development with the result that now it is in the dock. After taking the LL.B. degree from Delhi University, CLC students deserve to enter the legal fraternity with grace and dignity. I hope and trust that, the new administration at the main University, led by Professor Yogesh K Tyagi, Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, who himself is an eminent legal luminary, will give due attention to this neglected department to help reclaim its domain and have state of art facilities to facilitate CLC to carry forward its tradition of producing the leaders of the day.

ABOUT CLC

From the Desk of Professor-In-Charge

CLC Building at Chhatra Marg

CLC offering three year law degree, having a multi-cultural and multi-lingual student- body, is rated as one of the best law schools not only in India, but also in Asia. It is a deep rooted legal institution of par excellence having glorious past of 92 years and a bright future ahead. Responding to new developments in legal education, we keep introducing new subjects and concepts to our professionally designed courses of study to make it more socially relevant. Thus, we are not only maintaining the existing high standards of legal education, but are also trying to raise it to further heights. Qualitative teaching, moot-court competitions, campus placements, legal- aid services, regular discussions, and illustrious alumni are some of the features which have established CLC as a Centre of Excellence. We focus on the ‘case study’ of teaching methodology, apart from discussion method and other innovative methods. To facilitate this, updated study-material containing court judgments is provided to the students for each subject. This ensures an in-depth study of law and makes students active participants in class rooms. Along with academics, we offer many co-curricular and extra- curricular activities to the students. For this purpose various societies consisting of teachers and students are formed at the beginning of the academic session.

HISTORY

Vice Regal Lodge

15 years after the Delhi Durbar and the shift of Capital of British India to Delhi, the Faculty of Law started day classes in 1924 to cater the need for quality legal education. In 1963, the law classes were relocated to the present campus at Chhatra Marg from its original place of Vice Regal Lodge (where ShahidBhagat Singh was held captive and Lord Mountbatten proposed to Lady Mountbatten). Initially, Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.) Degree course was started as two-year course and the teaching was conducted in the morning only. To cater to part time students evening classes were started in 1942. In 1966, the two-year LL.B. course was made a three year (six semesters) course with an examination at the end of each semester.

Noting the growing reputation and popularity of full time day classes, it was given a distinct identity and was renamed as CLC in 1975 and Faculty of Law was to administer LL.M. and Ph.D. programmes. A full time Professor was appointed as Professor-In-Charge to run CLC independently. Professor (Dr.) Lotika Sarkar was its first Professor-In-Charge. Professor (Dr.) Usha Tandon, an alumni of CLC, who presently occupies this position is twenty- second Professor-In-Charge of CLC.

- PRE-LEGISLATIVE PANEL DISCUSSION ON “THE RIGHTS OF PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES BILL, 2014”

A Pre-Legislative Panel Discussion on “The Rights of Persons with Disabilities Bill, 2014” was organized on 29th October, 2015, in the seminar hall at 2.30 p.m. The Rights of Person with Disability Bill, 2014 is an endeavor to bring India to match the international standards and understanding of rights of specially-abled persons as comprehended by the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD), which India ratified in the year 2007. The Bill seeks to replace the Person with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995.

The Panel Discussion was initiated by Professor (Dr.) Usha Tandon by giving a welcome note, welcoming the eminent speakers and stressing on the urgent need for organization of more programs to spread awareness and ignite action for securing the rights of specially-abled persons.

The panel comprised of renowned activists working for the rights of specially or differently abled persons, namely, Mr. Prasanna Kumar Pincha Formerly Chief Commissioner for Persons with Disabilities - first visually impaired person to hold this prestigious office; A National Awardee for best disabled employee of the year 1999; Sr. Adv. Mr. Santosh Kumar Rungta, General Secretary, National Federation of the Blind (NFB); Adv. Mr. Subhash Chandra Vashisth, an activist in the field of disability; On his petition Delhi High Court struck down the Writer/Scribe Guidelines formulated by Institute of Chartered Accountants of India as arbitrary and Adv. Mr. Pankaj Sinha ,actively participating in fighting the cases on the rights of persons with disabilities.

While each panelist appreciated the intention behind the Bill they all stressed on the need for a wider and more sensitized understanding of the problems faced by specially-abled persons and consequently the need for developing a Bill, which is more enriched with rights and powers. In this context various issues, such as, the issue of reasonable accommodation, employment opportunities, and accessibility for the specially-abled persons were raised.

The first panelist, Mr. Prasanna Kumar Pincha, pointed out that the Parliamentary Standing Committee report on the Rights of Persons with Disability Bill 2014 is not in coherence with the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities. He enumerated certain positive aspects of the recommendations given by the committee which included changes made to “reasonable accommodation”, increasing the ambit of establishments and therefore including private entities for the purpose of reservation in employment, suggestions to include the bill in the curriculum of the schools, etc. On the other hand, he also raised certain issues that discounts the applicability of the bill, such as, including ailments like blood cancer, kidney failure etc. as part of disability which he felt was catastrophic for the purpose of this bill, and altogether bypassing the issue of legal capacity.

Sr. Adv. Mr. Sontosh Kumar Rungta further elaborated on the matter of reasonable accommodation and suggested that it gives the system a loophole to deny the rights of the specially-abled. He then discussed the various judicial developments that worked in favor of the specially-abled in securing them employment opportunities. He also praised the bill for not creating a separate class.

The third panelist, Mr. Subhash Vashisth stressed on the provision of the bill dealing with issue of accessibility and suggested that there is a need for a major infrastructural change and technical feasibility to make the society more specially-abled friendly. He further recommended a need for a common sign language and equal protection and safety in situations of risk disaster management.

Adv. Mr. Pankaj Sinha, our fourth panelist, stressed on the role of educational institutes in eliminating the discrimination faced by specially-abled. He too emphasized on the issue of accessibility and further stressed on inclusive education and increasing reservations.

The panel discussion was one of the many endeavors of the esteemed faculty members of the Campus Law Centre towards integrating pertinent issues faced by the society today into the curriculum. The panel discussion saw an overwhelming participation from the students suggesting the growing awareness and sensitization towards securing full participation of specially-abled.

- TALK ON THE “JAPANESE CONSTITUTIONAL LAW”

Prof. Noriyuki Asano addressing the audience

On 3rd November, 2015, a talk on “Japanese Constitutional Law” was organized in the seminar hall, Campus Law Centre (CLC), University of Delhi. The talk was delivered by Professor Noriyuki Asano, from Faculty of Policy Studies, Kansai University, Japan. Prof. Noriyuki Asano’s research interests include comparative constitutional laws, Asian laws, and constitutional laws of India among others. Prof. Noriyuki highlighted certain salient features of the Constitution of Japan i.e. parliamentary system of government and provisions for fundamental rights. The most salient feature of the Constitution of Japan is repudiation of rights to wage war and is enshrined in Article 9 and, therefore, is also known as “Postwar Constitution” or “Peace Constitution”. While Indian constitution has borrowed the laws on which the Supreme Court functions from the Japanese Constitution it differs from it on various accounts. One such difference is that the government of India is a federal parliamentary constitutional republic and democratic, whereas the government of Japan is a unitary parliamentary democracy and constructional monarchy.

The two primary issues raised in this workshop were user’s control over his/her online information and empowerment through social space. The primary goal of the programme was to create a culture of positive gender sensitive online environment, by promoting use of counter speech, through sensitive campaigns and listing user-driven best practices.

The workshop was divided into 4 sessions. The first session, called- access is empowerment- lasted for 30 minutes and highlighted the importance and benefits of being online by using case studies. The second session also lasted for 30 minutes and dealt with the issue of user’s control over online information. In this session the students were informed on how to create a page/profile or a group and how to control it. Further a demo was also given on the tools for safety and security availed by social networking platforms. Session 3 on counter speech in the Indian context too lasted for 30 minutes. This session dealt with effective use of the social media for various constructive purposes, such as, raising voice for any social issues etc. Session 4 comprised of the second half of the workshop and lasted for more than an hour. In this session, the organizing team, lent support to the students in developing campaigns on any issue/cause related to gender empowerment. At the end of the workshop the students presented their ideas and the best ones were rewarded. These competitions facilitated active engagement from the participants and included photography/ poster making, ad-man, creative writing, presentations (excluding power point).

In the light of increasing role of social media and use of online services in the lives of the young generation, the workshop not only contributed towards increasing awareness, and informing the students about various tools available online but also shed light on how to use online resources as a powerful instrument to bring change.

• 12TH K.K. LUTHRAMEMORIALMOOT COURT COMPETITION, 2016

A mark of an educational institution is not only imparting theoretical knowledge, but also how it teaches the students to interact with professional world that they will encounter outside of the institution. The K.K. Luthra Memorial Moot Court Competition is a hallmark of such events that not only gives the students of Law an opportunity to hone their skill in advocacy but also provides a wider platform to the students to interact with each other in a highly professional environment.

The K.K. Luthra Memorial Moot Court Competition is held at the Campus Law Centre (CLC), every year, during the third weekend of January. This exclusive International Moot Court Competition in Criminal Law is held in India, since 2005, in the memory of late Shri K.K. Luthra, Senior Advocate, an eminent criminal lawyer, whose legal career spanned from 1949 till his demise in 1997. 12th K.K. Luthra Memorial Moot Court Competition was inaugurated on 15th January, 2016 at CLC. Prof. (Dr.) Usha Tandon, Professor-in-Charge, Campus Law Centre, welcomed the Guest of Honour Mr. P. K. Malhotra, Secretary, Ministry of Law & Justice, Department of Legal Affairs; the Chief Guest Hon'ble Mr. Justice Prafulla C. Pant, Judge Supreme Court of India; Prof. (Dr.) Ashwani Kumar Bansal, Professor & Dean, Faculty of Law and other dignitaries. The inaugural function saw the presence of many eminent personalities including Mrs. Maneka Sanjay Gandhi, Hon'ble Union Cabinet Minister, Women & Child Development and Ms. Pinki Anand, Senior Advocate & Additional Solicitor General of India. In the end Mr. Sidharth Luthra, Senior Advocate & Formerly Additional Solicitor General of India, delivered a vote of thanks, which was then followed by High Tea.

• ADDRESS BY HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE PRAFULLA C. PANT ON THE INAUGURATION OF XII K.K. LUTHRA INTERNATIONAL MOOT COURT COMPETITION

First of all, I welcome all the participants of XII K.K. Luthra Moot Court Competition. Also, I congratulate the organizers of this Competition, which I am told is the only International Moot Court Competition, in the field of Criminal Law being held in India.

It is a fitting tribute to the memory of eminent lawyer Late Shri K.K. Luthra that the competition is being organized in this prestigious Campus. Campus Law Centre, Delhi University is a highly respected legal education institution in India which has produced many luminaries including those who are presently serving the nation as eminent lawyers, judges of Supreme Court, and also in various other fields. In the Supreme Court of India, today we have Hon'ble Justice Ranjan Gogoi, Hon'ble Justice Madan B. Lokur, Hon'ble Justice A.K. Sikri, and Hon'ble Justice R.F. Nariman who did their law from Delhi University. Justice Sen has recently retired.

I firmly believe that any education to be called qualitative must necessarily have practical training. After all we have to prepare men and women for the future challenges which they are likely to face. For law students, a Moot Court Competition is the most apt way to achieve rich experience in the art of advocacy, which I must remind you, is not a superficial exercise. It is the sheer hard work, perseverance and a never say give up attitude, which will sail you through in the career ahead of you.

In sports, especially athletics, there is a phase called "second wind". At times, when an athlete begins his marathon, very soon he finds himself out of breath and unable to run. He just wants to quit as he can't take it anymore. He begins to doubt his ability. Sadly, many athletes quit the race at this stage, as they cannot find the will power to break through this ceiling. 'Second wind' is a phenomenon in which an athlete who faces this make or break situation, suddenly finds the strength to press on at top performance with less exertion. Some people believe the second wind to be a result of the body finding the proper balance of oxygen to counteract the buildup of lactic acid in the muscles. Others claim second winds are due to endorphin production, while still others believe it to be purely psychological.

Be that as it may, what you must remember is that it is only those athletes who continue to run, against all adversity, without giving up, achieve "second wind". Whenever you have doubt, take a deep breath, and remind yourself that if you cross this phase, you will achieve second wind and a renewed enthusiasm to pursue what you were set out to attain.

The criticism against the men in legal profession is as old as the profession itself. I may remind that it used to be said about this profession:-

- I. First - Those who could not do anything, do law. But now of course, this belief is changing and has changed to a great extent.
- II. The second is 'may God save me from two coats; the white coat worn by Doctors and the black coat worn by lawyers.'

Campus Law Centre

These two sayings aptly summarize the prism through which legal profession is seen. This image may perhaps be the result of our collective failure in the sense that there are instances where some of our brethren in the legal profession indulge into unethical practices. Another reason for this criticism is something what Thane Rosenbaum, author of the Myth of Moral Justice has summarized, "Lawyers have a way of seeing that sets them apart from the rest of us. In one way this special vision makes them invaluable and in another repulsive."

In spite of all this criticism aimed at the profession I am certain about one thing that this profession is universally indispensable. Lawyers are one of the most important cogs in the machinery of Administration of Justice who continuously strive, through their work, to retain the peace in the society, maintain rule of law, and prevent the society from plunging into anarchy. If they are not there, who will protect the poor, the injured, the victims of negligence, the victims of racial discrimination, and other victims whose rights are violated. We must remember that Mahatma Gandhi and Dr. B.R. Ambedkar were from the legal profession. Most of our freedom fighters were from this profession only. And it is their sacrifice due to which today we are breathing in an independent nation.

At this juncture, I will be failing in my duty if I do not share some of my experiences, with this august gathering which includes participants from various Universities and different countries, and who in the time to come would serve their countries as lawyers, judges, and various other capacities.

For a judge honesty and fearlessness are the two most important qualities required. Knowledge of law, patience for hearing, and work culture are the next. If any one of you has these qualities, please please, keep your options open to come on the side of bench. Even as a District level Judicial Officer, I always found this job most satisfying.

Those of you who are submissive in nature, have ability to present your case with precision and clarity, apart from having habit of updating knowledge of law may prove to be excellent lawyers and sky is the limit for them. Many lawyers argue the cases with unnecessary high pitch, but such an act might please those sitting behind, not the ones sitting in front of them.

Campus Law Centre

About jobs in corporate sector, I have not much idea, but I think though in the initial years, it may keep you monetarily much ahead of others, particularly in initial ten-fifteen years, but you may not enjoy independence as compared to the members of bar and bench.

One more point, if you want to serve as a lawyer, and you are not from lawyer's family, it is desirable to work for few years in District Court, learn basics, and then move to the higher court, for you will be getting cases referred by your erstwhile colleagues, to support you in the profession in higher Courts.

Similarly, in this age of specialization do not confine your options only to the regular line of courts. Those who are interested in Income Tax, Sales Tax practice, should first learn basics like filing returns, replying notices at the level of Assessing Officers, and then shift to Tribunals for practice.

Many Law graduates have a keen interest in Criminal Law only, and have a good art of examination and cross examination of witnesses. I have seen such people, highly successful as prosecuting officers and defence counsel.

Everybody wants success in life. Paulo Coelho in his Novel "The Alchemist" says that secret of success is that if you fall seven times, you must rise eight times.

Life is full of ups and downs. We must have capacity to turn our failures into stepping stones for progress.

Lastly, I have seen in some parts of India, young lawyers go on strikes. This is highly objectionable, and erodes the work culture. It delays disposal of old cases, and ultimately brings bad name to the judicial institution. Such lawyers ultimately lower down their own prestige, as they are part of the institution. We all are human beings and subject to err. But if our eraser is getting finished before the pencil, then its the high time to introspect ourselves seriously.

I have already taken much of your time. I am thankful to you all for listening to me patiently.

At the end, I wish XII K.K. Luthra Memorial International Moot Court Competition every success, and good luck to the participants.

Thank You!

• SEMINAR ON CRIMINOLOGY

A seminar on criminology was organized on 27th January, 2016 at 1.30 pm in the seminar hall, Campus Law Center. Prof. (Dr.) S. C. Raina, Professor, CLC, gave a welcome address. The lecture on criminology was then delivered by Dr. Craig Paterson. Dr. Craig Paterson is a principal lecturer at Sheffield Hallam University in the United Kingdom. His main areas of expertise are in the police education, police reform, restorative justice and the role of commercial surveillance in criminal justice.

Dr. Craig Paterson addressing the audience

Campus Law Centre

The lecture covered various facets of criminal behavior including why do people commit crime, life cycle changes that influence the development or cessation of offending behavior and what methods are most suitable to reduce the occurrence of crime in society. It was suggested that the aim of criminology is shifting from punitive to preventive i.e. how to make a society safer and reduce crime by stopping people from committing a crime in the first place. Furthermore, it was observed that various studies show that punitive strategies used by legal system may increase crime rather than reducing it. This then suggests that we need more creative approaches as to how we respond to crime and criminals. According to various studies criminals start with lower level criminal behaviors. Keeping this in mind preventive approaches and Rational Choice Based Model, where both recommend creating an environment, which makes it difficult to commit crime, may be more suitable than punitive approach. Accordingly, sensitization of authorities and officers involved within and with legal justice system was recommended.

Dr. Craig Paterson

Dr. Craig Paterson then concluded his lecture by introducing the students to various scholarship programs that are being offered at Sheffield University, United Kingdoms. He also clarified various doubts raised by the students regarding the scholarships offered by the said University. The lecture was concluded by a vote of thanks delivered by Professor (Dr.) S.C. Raina with an observation that restorative justice must find a balance between the rights of an accused and maintaining a sense of security in a society.

- INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON “CONSERVATION OF BIODIVERSITY AND SUSTAINABLE ENERGY: LAW AND PRACTICE”

Campus Law Centre organised an International Conference on “Conservation of Biodiversity and Sustainable Energy: Law and Practice” from 12th to 14th February, 2016. Conservation of biodiversity is of paramount importance in times when the rate of extinction of current species is estimated to be very high, threatening not only the environment but, in turn, humans as well. Therefore it is essential that time and energy is spent on conserving all forms of life on earth and maintaining natural ecosystem.

He raised various environmental concerns and summed up his speech with a famous quote from the judgement of Sachidanand Pandey in 1987, “every part of the earth is sacred to my people.....”. Mr. Mohan Parasaran while Congratulating Prof. Usha Tandon and her team for holding such conferences at CLC mentioned that conservation of biodiversity, and generation of sustainable energy are two very important facets of tackling the pervasive and worrisome phenomenon of climate change. Since growing industrialisation and technological advances have caused inculpable damage to our environment it is high time that we as citizens recognise the magnitude of the problem and take steps to fix the damage that has been caused. Thereafter, Special Guest of Honour, Hon’ble Mr. Justice Uday U. Lalit, Judge, Supreme Court of India, addressed the audience. Justice Lalit in his Address mentioned the first principle in the Rio declaration that emphasizes on harmony with nature. Chief Guest, Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ranjan Gogoi, Judge, Supreme Court of India. While expressing his happiness to be back at home and feeling proud of CLC as his alma mater, Justice Gogoi complimented the Campus Law Center on holding the conference on a topic of unparallel importance over the entire humanity in the era when mankind is facing a herculean challenge to check the unstrained exploitation of natural resources, resulting in biodiversity degeneration. In his Address he focused on the need to have an all compassing legislation to ensure effective implementation of all policies and strategies and also a conscious society which realizes the significance of this natural gift. The Valedictory Session was concluded by a Vote of Thanks delivered by Prof. (Dr.) S. C. Raina, Professor, CLC, which was then followed by High Tea.

In the context of global danger to both terrestrial and marine environment alike, there is an urgent need of international collaboration to conserve biodiversity and devising ways of sustainable use of energy. Various legal mechanisms, systems and policies play an important role in enacting provisions that go a long way in safeguarding the environment. In this background, the International Conference- "Conservation of Biodiversity and Sustainable Energy: Law and Practice" - proved successful in bringing out the eminent issues to the forefront and recommending measures to improve the existing legal policies and frameworks.

Campus Law Centre

The session explored the idea of impact assessment and its ramifications on the issue of environment and biodiversity. The lecture focused on the issue of balance between development and conservation of the environment, while elaborating on the failure of law making agencies in this regard; both in the U.S.A. and India. It also highlighted problems faced due to under design in projects and lethal effects of lack of impact assessment, such as gas and oil leaks.

Thereafter, the session was opened for questions and an interactive discussion. Various important issues were raised and discussed. These included the issue of balance between development and protection of the environment vis-à-vis developed and developing nations; federal structure in the U.S.A. and its impact on the conservation of environment; the association between precautionary principle and under design; persuasive value of under design etc.

The lecture not only enriched the students with the knowledge on various impact assessment procedures, both in U.S.A and India, but also involved the students in a rich discussion on how negative impacts on the environment can be reduced while not compromising the development.

against women especially rape victims, reasons for rate of charge-sheets, bad conditions of laboratories, low conviction rate and pathetic condition of shelter homes. She apprised the audience about recent steps taken by the commission in this regard. After the speakers addressed the students, Prof. (Dr.) Usha Tandon opened the floor for question answers round where various important issues were raised and discussed. Since Gender inequality remains a major threat to right to life and human dignity. It has permeated to every level of our society, which in turn leads to subjugation of women. To deal with this problem effectively awareness amongst the youth holds a position of equal importance amongst other initiatives. The workshop was one such step in directing the student's thoughts to issues of gender discrimination. The workshop was a success in this regard. SEMINAR ON "ENVIRONMENTAL LAW"

A seminar on "Environmental law" was organised in the Seminar Hall, Campus Law Centre (CLC) on 30th March, 2016 at 2.30 p.m. Professor Armin Rosencranz, Consulting Professor, International Relations, Stanford University, U.S.A. was the Key Note Speaker at the seminar. Professor (Dr.) Usha Tandon, Professor-in-Charge, CLC initiated the session by welcoming and felicitating the Professor with a memento and addressed the gathering on the outlines of the topic.

Prof. Armin Rosencranz gave a detailed analysis of some of the landmark judgments concerning the impact of industries on the environment and biodiversity. The analysis entailed a chronological change seen in the judicial stand and lack of technical expertise in judiciary with regard to environmental impact of various developmental changes. He further discussed the need for sensitivity and comprehensive evaluation using the case of Union Carbide Corporation vs. Union of India (commonly known as Bhopal Gas Tragedy Case). It was also suggested that the pro-development stance of the judiciary, without giving prominence to the resulting consequences on the environment, might have far reaching detrimental effects than envisaged.

Thereafter, the session was opened for questions and an interactive discussion. Various important issues were raised and discussed. These included the issue of electronic waste disposal and recycling; the importance and role of National Green Tribunal; redirecting taxes for controlling already caused damage to the environment; the risk of petrol tanks installed in Panjabi Bagh, Delhi; the need to reanalyze the use of nuclear energy and the need to adopt new nuclear technology available which is both inexpensive and safe; and the merits and demerits of interlinking the rivers in India.

The seminar particularly proved beneficial for the students as it focused on the legal analysis of matters pertaining to development and environment. The seminar was structured on case study method, which is also the primary mode of teaching in CLC. The seminar, therefore, while providing plethora of information, better equipped the students to scrutinize and explore the issue in new light. The session ended with Vote of Thanks delivered by Mr. Moatoshi Ao, Assistant Professor, CLC.

- MOOT COURT SOCIETY

Moot courts are simulated court competitions which involve arguing on points of law by student ‘advocates’ before a bench of ‘judges’ usually comprising of members of the faculty and practicing advocates. CLC lays emphasis on this activity to equip students for their future profession and to imbibe the ‘mooting culture’ in all the students. The moot court activity in CLC begins with a Demo Moot whereby all the prospective participants are guided about preparation and presentation of their cases before the judges. After this, the Fresher’s Moot and Common Induction Moot is organized for membership to the Moot Court Society. This is followed by the flagship event of CLC, the “K.K. Luthra Memorial Moot Court Competition” which is organized on an international event. Apart from these activities, the Moot Court Society also assists the selected students in their preparation to represent the College at various national and international moot court competitions organized by different law colleges all over India.

- Common Induction Moot (CIM)

“Come one, Come All. Grab the Golden Chance”- that is the ideology behind the Common Induction Moot, which is one of the avenues for entrance into the most coveted society in CLC. This is an opportunity not only for fresher’s but also for the senior batches to become a member of the MCS. This year the CIM was held on 26th September, 2015.

The problem was based on criminal law, with special focus on domestic violence, private defence and reliability of the evidences. The competition was judged by bench of judges comprising esteemed faculty members. The competition saw cut throat competition, where even a minute difference in total scores led to students making it or missing the opportunity.

- Fresher’s Induction Moot (FIM)

The fresh batch of students gets their second chance to enter the MCS through the Fresher’s Induction Moot, which was held on 3rd October, 2015. This moot was exclusively for the first year students. This year’s moot problem was based on law of contract, with special focus on breach of contract. The FIM was judged by the bench of judges comprising of esteemed alumni of CLC.

The Annual Cultural Fest was organized in Campus Law Centre (CLC) from 17th March to 19th March, 2016. The fest started on 17th March with Sports Fest, which featured students participating in various sports and board games including Badminton, Table Tennis, Cricket, Chess, Ludo etc. Where the first day catered to sports enthusiasts, the second day added more colour and variety to the mood with a musical evening, organized on 18th March at 6.00 p.m., which featured a performance by Indian Ocean. Students were seen mesmerized with the band's performance and were seen enjoying every bit of the fusion rock. The energy level was seen souring when the band played their celebrated composition Kandisa and songs from Masaan. The events on 19th march concluded with DJ Night, which left the entire campus dancing and enjoying to the music.
